POLICEMAN

Receives a Severe Shock From an Electric Current.

Thursday evening at 6 o'clock, while Policeman James Edwards was sending in a report from the box at corner of Grant and Cross sts., he was shocked by an electric current and remained insensible for 15 minutes.

An alarm was telephoned to police headquarters, and the injured man was taken to the police station, where he remained until Friday morning, under the care of Dr. C. E. Norris.

The patient was feeling fairly well Friday morning.

It is thought the accident was the result of crossed wires. At the time of the accident a flash was noticed in the signal station room.

FARMERS

At Cuyahoga Falls,

Holding Their 18th Annual Institute.

Every Session Is Well Attended

And Programs Are Excellent In Every Feature.

Attendance at the Sessions Was Never Larger.

With an attendance exceeding 300 people, the opening session of the 18th annual Farmers' Institute at Cuyahoga Falls, began Thursday at 9 a.m. in Apollo Opera house. In the afternoon the audience was increased to 300, and in the evening the attendance was estimated at 800.

The programs of each session were bright and interesting. With few exceptions, all whose names appeared on the program were present to take part, and every session is marked by special enthusiasm.

A feature that impresses those who attend the institute is the appropriate and pleasing list of variations that fit in gracefully with the addresses, papers and discussions. Mrs. John Clark has sung herself into the good graces of the audience. Musical duets and trios by Misses Weidner, Peebles and Hall are popular, and Miss Inez May Hall's readings have about them a force and delineation of character that cause her appearances on the stage to be signals for heartiest applause.

The instructive features of the program have been selected with much care. Advanced thought in theory and aptness in practical illustrations are characteristics of the addresses, papers and discussions on the various subjects of importance to the up-to-date farmer.

O. S. Treat is president of the meeting and C. N. Gaylord, secretary.

Aside from the features introduced by the entertainers, two excellent addresses were delivered during Thursday morning's session—one by F. A. Derthick, on "Horses," the other by L. V. Bierce, on "Farm Insurance in Summit county."

In Thursday afternoon's session, Dr. J. W. Lyder read a paper, entitled "Care of poultry," and an essay on "Cooking" was read by Miss Ethel Foster.

Thursday evening's session began at 7 o'clock. The instructive numbers were a paper on "Modern charities," read by J. H. Seymour, and an address on "A century of Ohio women," by Mrs. Kate Brownlee Sherwood. Mrs. A. K. Fouser was to have read the paper on "Modern charities," but, owing to illness, was unable to be present. Mrs. Sherwood's address was one of the most brilliant and comprehensive features of the institute.

The program Friday morning was of a miscellaneous character. Considerable business was transacted. The afternoon session was full of interest, and this evening's program is being looked forward to with anticipations of a rich treat.

Two months ago, at the A. M. E. Zion church subscription books were given to women of the congregation, and each woman was urged to solicit money to be applied to the needs of the church. As an inspiration to enthusiasm in the work a gold watch was offered to the woman who would solicit the largest amount of money.

The contest was concluded at the A. M. E. Zion church Bazaar Thursday night. Mrs. Levi Pinn, of Perkins Hill, won the watch. She turned over to the church fund $116.25. Mrs. Louisa Hamilton was second in the contest. She solicited $8.

COMBINE

Formed by Boatmen

Operating on This Division of the Canal.

Freight Rates Will Advance 10 Per Cent.

Formal Organization Was Completed Friday.

Officers Elected by Association—Thirty-Two Members.

The Navigation Transfer Association of Ohio was formally organized in this city today.

It is a combination of the boatmen on this division of the Ohio canal. As a result of this new corporation, there will be a general increase in rates next year.

It is claimed that the coal men last year made their own rates for hauling coal. If one boatman did not want to take the cargo at the rate offered, another man was found who would do so. When navigation closed, coal was being brought into Akron for 70 cents per ton. Next year the rate will be 80 cents and there will be no deviation from this.

The rates on other cargoes have been increased 10 per cent.

Thirty-two boatmen have joined the association. A special committee will start tomorrow and drive from this city to Massillon and Navarre. It is the intention to get every man operating a boat on this division, as a member of the association.

The local manufacturers who depend on the canal for their coal supply will feel the effect of the combine at once. None of them have placed their orders for coal. As soon as they do, they will find that it will be necessary to pay a heavier rate than in the past. The headquarters of the association will be in this city.

The officers are: Maurice Melavern, president. Park Dalzell, vice president. C. E. Boies, secretary and treasurer.
